“ I can't even imagine what kind of pain you are going through at this time. A parent is not supposed to bury their children, it is supposed to be the other way around. No words can help ease your pain, but just know that our thoughts, prayers and love are with you all. Sara and Josh, your strength during all of this amazes me. No way could I be that strong. Continue to keep your faith in God and he will carry you through the trying days ahead. We are here if you need us.

“ Sara and Josh, No parent should have to go through the death of a child, much less two. Both of your boys found the love of many people that your family knew. The loss is great, the Lord is good but all in all he has something in store for the precious boys. We love you all and are praying God will help you through this difficult time.

“ Sara and Josh: I won't even begin to try and imagine the pain of losing two precious souls. I dare say I could never come close. I know what my children mean to me and I can't imagine losing one. I know you have a great family to help comfort you. I know that God has his reasons, even if we can't always understand them. I pray that, in this most trying of times, you are granted the strength to carry on. I know that somewhere down the road you will see Alex and Riley again. From the deepest parts of my heart, you have every condolence I can offer. We will pray for you and your family.
