“ Sweet Ruth. She lived at the Manor with my husband Ralph. He was almost completely non-verbal but she'd tell him good morning or something similar and would excitedly report to me when he would respond with a good morning back. I remember helping her take pictures with her iPad. There should be one of her and Ralph on there somewhere. He passed two weeks before she did. I hope their spirits are rejoicing happy and healthy on the other side. I missed you on Thanksgiving Ruth and will miss your sweet face from now on when I stop by to visit.
