“ I met Ms. Wise a few months ago when I started cleaning her home. I only cleaned for her a few times but I enjoyed being around her so much. To her children she talked about you and your families. She was a very proud mother and grandmother. My condolences to you durine this time.

“ here we are sitting now. We all knew this day will come. we did hate the thought to lose Judy, all the time ever since we felt her life span will come to end.

Still we did enjoy every Minute we had with our great friend, our Sister, our mom, our grandma, our smart adviser, our warmhearted friend Judy.

Its just about 2 years we was gathered here to bid farewell to Pat. And its about one year ago Judy told me she doesnt know how much longer she will make it without Pat. We was then sitting at her kitchentable talking, and it was the first time we was talking about our ends, it did scare me.

But, it was the same table we used to sit to play poker. 6, 7 people in that kitchen, playing, laughing, producing smoke we could barely see each other, and having a great time. Lots of times. It was the same table we was sitting at and talking about politics, about life, about family. Family next door, and family away as Delaware, Arizona, Oklahoma, Utah, over in germany or in Japan. she loved every one of us with her unselfish spirit and with her open heard. I always was impressed about her attitude, her common sense, and wisdom.

For hours we was sitting at that table, or on her porch, sharing memories about the good times over yonder Arizona. West Greaswood, Roosevelt, Apache Lake. Over and over we was talking about how we met. Or telling storys and analysing actual situations. I dont remember heaving heard her complaining about something. She used to take things like they were. Doesnt mean she didnt care, doesnt mean she didnt suffer when things went wrong, she did, but she wasnt complaining nor blaming somebody for doing this or that.

Besides, How we did get to know each other? Up in the mountain at Lake Roosevelt in the Arizona desert on a remote campground, together with her sister Brenda and Ricky. we had the first chat, happens to make fun about Pats knowledge in the german language he brought back home from service overseas. We, travelers from far away, and them locals, just felt from the first time a special relation. we left for switzerland, but kept coming back, and coming back, and coming back. the relation grew tighter, the friendship became bigger and somewhen we became family. Sure when Joshua started Judy calling Grandma. To me she was mother, sister, and great friend.

She just was special, we felt that when me met first time those 22 years ago. we did meet coincidently, yet not without means from somebody. Yes Judy, now you are gone, now you are where you wanted to be, at Pats side at a place we down here do not know yet. we do miss you terrible. but one day we will be togheter again. I ll bring the cards, and a cold DP ...
