“ I am terribly sad that I only got to spend such a short time with Michael. After finding out I had a big brother (and little brother Harley) and then meeting them when I was 16, I had big plans. Unfortunately circumstances and geography did not allow me to get to know my new found brothers the way I had hoped. Michael and I were just discussing me visiting Alabama this summer. My heart aches to know that is not going to happen but it aches even more so for Devan and Seth.
