“Michelle,

I am deeply sorry about the loss of Morgan. We often talked about how close our kids were in age while you were employed with the State of Alabama. I know the love you had for your beautiful angel. I also know the love you have for our Savior above. It's often said that "the lord will never put more on us than we can bear". My thoughts and prayers are with you and your loving family.

Even though I don't know you, I have followed every post and prayed so hard. When there was good news I slept better and when there wasn't I prayed harder. The news of her passing hit me like a ton of bricks. Michelle my niece Molly Brewer says you are holding them all together. I know you are shattered and I hope that beautiful faith you have continues to keep you going. You tried so hard to help Morgan get well. I just can't say how sad and sorry I am but just know you are going to be in my prayers for a long time to come. Your Morgan was a brave, beautiful girl. Liz Wood—Washington, DC

“ i was very saddened to hear of Morgan's passing. She fought so hard. We never know what God has planned even though we may not like it. I followed her story everyday and shared it. If your faith in God touched just one person then it was a job well done. God will carry you in the coming days, months and years. I know Libby greeted Morgan with open arms and they are giggling as they run through the streets of gold. Jaimi Bradford. Grove Hill, AL

Following Prayers for Morgan since the beginning and I was drawn by their strength and courage and determination to fight this awful thing that was upon them 😞. But most of all by their unwavering love of God and complete trust in Him. Lost my soulmate 4 years ago to this. He was 67 and doing good until this hit him and a couple of weeks after he soared with the angels to be with Jesus and our daughter who was killed by a school bus at age 10. Life can be so hard but living as if each day were your last full of all the love you can give and receive makes going to Heaven the best thing in this life ❤️ I pray God will give you peace as your hearts are breaking and longing for Morgan! You will see her again soon!

“ What a strong and courageous young lady. She was such an inspiration and example of what real faith looks like; always believing no matter what. My heart goes out to her beautiful mom - also a pillar of faith and strength- and her family and friends who will miss her dearly. I thank God for the priveledge of being able to pray for you and follow you through your journey though it did not end as we all had hoped. God has a beautiful angel at His side and He has wiped away her tears and taken her suffering. Thank God there are no forever good-byes in Christ! <3 You are in our thoughts and prayers.
