“ You do not know me but you probably know my husband. I cannot imagine what you are going through right now. We have been lifting you up in prayers. I am especially praying for your son, I know he is young but I pray that one day he will understand and know that his mommy loved him so much. God only knows, no one else does. We love you both.

“ Ben, Maggie, Ivan there are no words to express my deepest sympathies. I met Natalie in 6th grade at 10 years old, we were inseparable. She was the epitome of friend to me, a sister. Through moves and trials we stayed in touch for the big moments and caught up on the small ones too. It was as if no time passed even if it had been any length at all. I loved that woman... I met her hubby and her whole world lit up and then came Ivan, I thought I saw her happy before! Her mother couldn't have been more proud of this wonderful woman she helped mold. Baby Isabell, this world would have been a more beautiful . Place with you on it but I guess we just weren't ready for you. So take care of your mama, and Natalie, keep an eye on all of us. Love you forever. Katie (Joe) Kremm

“ My heart goes out to you Ben, Maggie, Ivan, family and friends of Natalie. I had the pleasure of knowing her since we were 10, over the years we just clicked. Through moves and obstacles we managed to keep our long distance friendship alive. I had the privilege of seeing her marry her soul mate and the seeing her world light up with the arrival of Ivan. I can only imagine this world with Isabell... Keep your mama company up there and Natalie watch out for all of us. Maggie, you did amazing with Natalie. We love you and miss you more. “ Although I did not know the family personally, I have heard their story and have read Natalie's blog several times. My heart is absolutely breaking for your family. I know that there is nothing I can say to make that pain go away but I am praying for you all continuously. I pray that you can find comfort in the Lord and know that you will one day see Natalie again. Please know she is watching over you and and your beautiful son.
