“ Vicki was my first boss. No interview hired me on the spot. That turned into many years of working together and friendship. She "adopted" me as the daughter she did not have. She was there for both of my children being born. We didn't see much at all of each other when she and Tom moved away as it was a long distance. But I will always remember her jokes she played on me and the good and bad times we had. She will be missed.
